Missionary Moment – Keely & Yan Sleight

Keely currently works remotely for Cru World Headquarters as part of the US Tech department. She works most frequently with an online tool called MPDX used by Cru and other ministry organizations. This software helps missionaries develop their ministry team by tracking their funding and organizing contact information for tasks like sending prayer updates. Her job is to write internal communications like Cru-wide emails, help documentation, and video training scripts so people know how to use MPDX.
